"They Shall All Be Taught of God"

Prologue

"That our sons may be as plants grown up in their youth; that our daughters may be as corner stones, polished after the similitude of a palace," is the aim of BMA. To accomplish this aim, each student that passes through these halls must have a thorough knowledge of the true God to fit himself for usefulness and to qualify for responsibilities in private and public life. Possessing a divinely set course, BMA students may mold and fashion others in Christ's likeness, rather than be fashioned after the world's model.

Dedication

To One Who Teaches
For God . . .

Mr. Carroll Johnson, one of our maintenance men, is on call 24 hours a day installing and repairing the plumbing, heating systems, and electrical circuits and appliances of B.M.A. He is also head deacon of the Blue Mountain Academy Seventh-day Adventist Church. Working alongside his students, Mr. Johnson instructs them in the art of completing a job with ease and perfection. With appreciation for his christian example and faithful services rendered to B.M.A., the ECHOES Staff proudly dedicates this yearbook to Mr. Carroll Johnson.

School Life

May youth gather here to receive instruction in knowledge and training in virtue. May they find here every condition necessary for a true and enlightened education. May this campus always be pervaded with an invigorating atmosphere of mental and moral life, and may no student pass from BMA without having been made more intelligent, more thoughtful, more courageous, more virtuous, and in every way more capable of wise and noble living. To this end, may God bless the students, teachers, and principal of BMA and every one whose influence will in any degree affect the work of education as it shall be conducted here.

Principal's Message

My dear students:

The 1966/67 school year has been one of the most outstanding in the history of Blue Mountain Academy. It has been filled with many meaningful events and experiences.

The primary purpose for publishing the "Echoes" is to permanently preserve the highlights of the year for your enjoyment and encouragement in years to come. The events recorded here will challenge you to even greater heights of attainment. Cherish dearly the memories of your academy days — they are the best of your life.

It has been interesting to observe your progress from September through May. Some of you knew exactly where you were going and how you were going to get there. Others of you took some time to find yourselves, but made real progress in the right direction before the school year was finished. A few of you did not utilize your time and abilities properly which resulted in the school year not being as profitable as it could have been. The students who developed the most were those who took advantage of the opportunities presented.

The year 1967 will long be remembered by students and staff alike as the much-needed gymnasium finally became a reality. The erection of this structure could not have been possible without the dedicated leadership of these Pennsylvania Conference officials — D. W. Hunter, past president, O. D. Wright, president, E. M. Hagele, secretary-treasurer; the loyal support of the members of the Blue Mountain Academy Board, and the faithful constituents of this great conference, who have so uncomplainingly given of their means. Because of this dedication, Blue Mountain Academy has become an even better school where a Christian education can be obtained. I pray that you will follow this example of dedication as you continue to prepare yourself to assume the responsibilities God assigns you; and in the years to come repay in a small way that which has been so generously provided for you.

Blue Mountain Academy has endeavored to give you a quality education with emphasis on the principles of true education: "True education means more than the pursuit of a certain course of study. It means more than a preparation for the life that now is. It has to do with the whole being, and with the whole period of existence possible to man. It is the harmonious development of the physical, the mental, and the spiritual powers. It prepares the student for the joy of service in this world, and for the higher joy of wider service in the world to come." — E. G. White, Education, p. 13.

If you have made these principles a part of your life this year, you are a richer individual for attending this school. I challenge you to continue this harmonious development in the months and years ahead in order to be prepared to meet your Lord when He comes.

Dorm Life

I shall not remember, exactly, the way the small events happened that made a good day. A letter, a visit, an excellent book, a rose-silver evening, someone's special look. Precise circumstances thoughts seldom retain; but the memory of gladness — this will remain. Dorm life is a new experience for every student. It brings him in contact with so many different people of diverse backgrounds. He learns that his wishes are no longer of prime importance, for he must now consider the desires of the other people in his world and must adapt his wants to meet the the other person's needs. Without losing his individuality, the student must learn to adjust his personality to blend rather than to clash with the other personalities. This is a maturing time in his life when he has added responsibilities and must teach himself the art of self-control. He has many choices to make; they will determine his character. Finding the right ideals and goals in life, he must resolve to follow them. He finds strength and encouragement from close friends, the dean, and God. For wisdom in his quest for knowledge, for help with his problems, and for comfort in his disappointments, he turns to God and finds a new dependence on his heavenly father. Along with the difficult times, dorm life brings happiness. Happiness is the mixed emotions felt on the first night in the dorm. Happiness is stuffing the hall bells with an assortment of rags to prevent being awakened by their shrill buzzing at six a.m. Happiness is studying by flashlight after dorm lights have gone off. Happiness is romping in the rec-rooms or lounging in the lobbies. Happiness is listening to words of wisdom from Mrs. Runyan or Dean Winn. Dorm life may bring happiness, but home leaves are a welcome relief. When the school year is ended, happiness is giving the room a last cleaning, packing one's possessions, and saying good-bye to all.

Classes

A student comes to Blue Mountain Academy to attend classes under the direction of capable, God-fearing teachers. He finds his program full of variety and paradoxes. In classes he may work on a pungent-smelling chemistry experiment or an inspiring musical composition. He may add to the symphony of clicking typewriters or escape into the oblivion of a class nap. The composite of BMA curriculum is to make gentlemen from boys and ladies from girls — adults that can solve life's problems and contribute to the Kingdom of God.

Work

By following Christ's example, the student at Blue Mountain Academy learns to work with his hands. He learns to appreciate the necessity of helping himself. There are varied work plans where he may earn part of his tuition while receiving instruction, training, experience, and developing good working habits.

Recreation

There is a time to work and a time to play. Recreation is very important to a student for it re-creates his body and mind, and develops his personality. Volleyball and baseball develop physical strength and teach one to work with others. Recreation is often an excuse for association. Parties, picnics, and Saturday night programs provide an opportunity for people to mingle with each other, to have fun, to laugh together, to make new acquaintances and find friends in a busy, self-centered world.

New Gym

The gym is being built for our recreation. Watching the progress made as it is erected is a form of recreational activity for many.

Sabbath Activities

After the morning worship services are over, the remaining Sabbath hours are spent in activities which bring the student closer to God. He may work for the Lord by making house-to-house contacts, thus leading others to God, or he may take a walk and find God in nature. Some commune with their Lord by reading the Bible and talking to Him in prayer.

A.S.B.

The A. S. B., Associated Student Body, is the main organization from which all other activities and clubs stem. The A.S.B. sponsors many school activities such as the "Handshake" where the faculty and students spend an evening shaking hands, eating, laughing, and getting to know each other. Fall and Spring Picnics, the Christmas Party, pre-Saturday night programs, and the Valentine Party are sponsored by A.S.B. This year the A.S.B. supervised a "LOOK Campaign" where the students sold well-known magazines and received a half day of vacation for every $500.00 profit made. Talent night is another activity of A.S.B. in which the gifted students participate. The student leaders go on a week-end camp-out where they learn the qualities, responsibilities, and obligations of a leader. A.S.B. gives an annual presentation, and also sponsors a recreation period on Sunday afternoon's. Student Administration Day is another activity sponsored by A.S.B. in which students assume all responsibilities in "running the school" for one day.

MOTHER'S LITTLE HELPER LEARNS HOW TO MIX CONCRETE. Four-year-old Dawn Bottcher watches her mother, Sandra, mix real cement on the dining room table at their home in Worcester, Massachusetts. A new product, Marco-Mix Concrete contains its own moisture, and can be mixed in 60 seconds, without any mess. Users add no water, but simply knead the cement in a plastic bag. The manufacturers, B. F. Marsh Co., of Worcester, Mass., say that their 10 lb. package of Marco-Mix is the ideal size for small repair work by homeowners and contractors.

WHAT'S YOUR NEXT STOP?

Whether you're headed for college, marriage or straight into business, one thing is certain: you'll soon begin to appreciate the need for financial security. Ask Dad about the importance of life insurance—something you'll wish you had when the time comes to raise a family. I'd like to show you both why now's the perfect time to start building an insurance program—while you're young and premiums are lower. Have Dad phone me for an appointment.

Education is a process of opening new doors. Each door provides a new glimpse of opportunities to be grasped, each with an attendant challenge.

Education does not end with a graduation service. It is an ever-continuing process throughout life. There is no turning back. The past cannot be recaptured.

What you do with what you have is what counts.

Epilogue

Time passes on in a steady, ceaseless flow. The 1966-67 school year has passed taking all the pleasant, as well as the disagreeable incidents with it, but leaving the memories behind. Memories that will make us laugh and cry—memories of teachers, friends, parties, work, play, and long hours of study. Time takes with it the expressions like "decent", "groovy", "cool—yea", and "neat" that we used this year. For most it was a very good year. It was a happy year where we grew and learned. We learned to love learning, to develop our potentials, to serve others, and to serve our God.

We go forth better-equipped to take our places in the human community. By building ourselves, we have built the world to come. Yes, time flows on, and this school year ends. At the end of all we cling to so, the sun is setting, must we go.
