BLUE MOUNTAIN ACADEMY
VOLUME XXVI

We, the student body of Blue Mountain Academy, proudly dedicate the 1980-81 Echoes to a dear Friend who is always there when needed. He is ready and willing to help us in times of trouble, and eager to share our hopes and triumphs. He has blessed us with His presence on our campus, through His Holy Spirit, and we thank Him for this, for in it we have found an abundance of strength and unity, and most importantly — love. Therefore, as a public commitment and humble token of our love, we are not merely dedicating this yearbook, but our lives, to our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ! May it always be said that He can be found here, abiding in the hearts and lives of each and everyone of us.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

The founder of Methodism, John Wesley, adopted the following goal as his rule of life:

"Do all the good you can,
By all the means you can,
In all the ways you can,
In all the places you can,
At all the times you can,
To all the people you can,
As long as ever you can."

This rule might well be adopted by every Christian, for it is in full harmony with the scriptural injunction, "Be careful to maintain good works! Christians are to be pace setters in doing good. They are to imitate their Master "who went about doing good."

Our school has as one of its cardinal objectives "Students will find happiness and fulfillment in unselfish service for others." Your teachers are striving to serve as role models to instill in you a desire to serve. Our topsy-turvy world must be shown Christ's example through the contemporary Christian. May God bless you as you leave the halls of our beloved school, and I trust you will choose to serve because of intrinsic reward.

After a summer of waiting, the day finally arrived that nearly 400 teenagers made their way to their new home for the next nine months.

Long lines, tired feet, hot weather, new faces and "mug shots" were the first things to greet you after a summer's anticipation of your new home. After the hustle and bustle of settling into the dorm ended, the time came to say good-bye to your family.

Shortly afterwards, assembled in the gym, was the new school family. Old friends reunited and new acquaintances were made.

After shaking approximately 400 hands, with one plastered smile, the night ended. It looked like it was going to be a great year.

FALL PICNIC

A cloud of competition hung heavy on September 7, 1980, the day the annual fall picnic was to be held.

The morning began with a worship talk by Gary Rust and then everyone made their way out to the football field to participate in the various competitive games of the day. The events of the day included: tug o'war, tire pull, egg toss, baby bottle feed, and many other grueling events.

The games ended and class points were tallied up. Everyone then proceeded to the gym to see the movie, "Follow Me Boys", after which the winning class was announced.

The seniors of the Great Class of 1981 won the picnic. Using their fitness and talents they broke through the cloud of competition like the rays of the sun shining through the clouds of a storm.

BIBLE CAMP

WEEK OF PRAYER

It was a new experience for the students as well as the faculty . . . A retreat from everyday hassles and a tight schedule, into an environment that was enriched with the presence of the Holy Spirit.

Elder Gary Rust shared with us, through his own personal experiences, the feelings of comfort, joy, and excitement that can be ours if we will only accept Christ as our Saviour and turn our lives over to Him.

It was a weekend never to be forgotten by anyone.

A tradition to be carried on by everyone.

Following the Bible Camp Weekend the school was involved in the first of three weeks of prayer that are held throughout the school year.

Elder John Strickland from the Reading, Pennsylvania area was the guest speaker for the week. He spoke about the disciples and their experiences with Christ, the main emphasis centered around Peter and Paul.

His informal manner made it easy for the students to relate and talk individually with him. He strengthened our faith in God by telling of his own life and the trials and experiences he went through. In hearing his story we were shown that what we really need to do is put our life in Christ's hands and he will guide and lead us.

Leaders gathered together,
Enjoying each others company. . .
And the beauty of the mountains.
Learning of their responsibilities. . .
And of themselves.
Warming their hands by the fire. . .
And their hearts with the presence of God.

LEADERSHIP CAMPOUT

SENIOR RECOGNITION

On the night of November 1, 1980, students, family, and friends of seniors awaited the recognition and unveiling of the talents of the class of 1981. During the evening we saw a train robbery, tumbling routine, musical selections, and other displays of the talented class. The speaker, Professor Robert Wilson, from C.U.C., delighted us with his views on life and presented a special challenge to the senior class. The program went well, and should be a source of pride for the class of 1981.

OPEN HOUSE

AMATEUR HOUR

Excitement mingled with anxiety filled the auditorium on the night of January 24, 1981. Ho Sigma Kappa presented its annual Amateur Hour, with its host Jim Aumack. The audience enjoyed a show filled with a variety of creative performances. Comedy skits, piano solos, string duets, and vocal numbers are only a few examples of the talents that were displayed. One of the highlights of the evening was a surprise interruption by Ms. Saidey O'Gradey—the trusty parking lot attendant. A few lucky members of the audience even got two dollars richer by answering thought provoking trivia questions. All too soon the curtains closed, bringing the show to an end.

FATHER SOLOS SON ON 16TH BIRTHDAY

While many parents face with trepidation the 16th birthdays of their children, knowing they will be expected to help them learn to drive a car, Harold Streidl soloed his son, Roger, in a Cessna 150 at Reading Municipal Airport. It was Roger's 16th birthday. When asked if that hadn't made him nervous, Mr. Streidl said it was his 51st such experience.

Blue Mountain Academy has an airport of its own, but adverse crosswinds prevented Roger from soloing there. The Academy has operated the airport and flight program since 1970.

RELIGIOUS ACTIVITIES

The 1980-81 school year began with a refreshing change, a Bible retreat. But far better than that, we found a student body that was hungering for the love of the Lord. The retreat provided for an interesting scene as we watched the year unfold. Throughout the year we've not only found the Lord on our campus at Friday night vespers, Moment's of Prayer, Baptisms, and Week's of Prayer, but we've found him in the hearts of students, reflected in their love for those around them.

The ladies of Ellis Hall enjoyed a relaxing and fun-filled evening in the cafeteria. No one went away hungry from this Christmas party. There was plenty of ice cream and cookies for everyone. Regina, the fearless club leader, led her crew in singing a humorous version of "My Girl", which got everyone cheering and clapping. The evening ended with the classic movie "My Fair Lady."

Festivity never ceases. At least not at Unruh Hall. Autumn brought fathers and sons together at the annual brunch. Throughout the day they participated together in various types of recreation and had the chance to relax and view the film "Baker's Hawk." The boys' club Christmas party was so exciting that they could hardly keep the girls out of the cafeteria. However, a bombardment of snowballs kept them out of trouble. A delicious treat of ice cream sundaes and root-beer floats kept the boys content while the movie "Brian's Song" was shown.

SENIOR CHALLENGE

The future belongs to those who prepare for it. God has a plan for your future, but you don't know all He has in store for you now. Full and complete preparation is essential for the fulfillment of God's plan for you in the future.

David had no idea that God would later on choose him as the king. Even so, the experiences of his young life prepared him for leadership of the highest order.

In the deep pit to which he had been thrust by his brothers, Joseph had no thought of the great responsibility that would be placed upon him in a few years. The events that took place in the next few years, though not understood by him, were to put a mold on his life that would prepare him for the high calling God had for him.

As these two youth related to the events that took place in their lives, they formed characters that could be used of God for the place He had intended all along for them. In II Timothy 2:21 we have a conditional promise, "If you stay away from sin, you will be like one of those dishes made of purest gold—the very best in the house—so that Christ Himself can use you for His highest purposes."

Prepare now with the highest goals in mind and you will be ready when Christ calls on you for that unique responsibility that you, and you alone have been born to fulfill.

HAIL TO THE CHIEF

One of the unique principles that our country is built upon is the fact that we have the freedom to elect the leader of our country. This is done once every four years, and 1980 was the year for our country to elect a new leader. On November 11, 1980, the people of our nation went to the polls and elected a new President. Three main candidates were running for the "top job." Jimmy Carter, incumbent - a Democrat, John Anderson - an Independent, and Ronald Reagan, ex-governor of California - a Republican. After all the polls had closed, the votes counted, and the information fed into computers, America had a new President. Mr. Reagan won the Presidency with a landslide victory by taking 44 states.

At the age of 70, Mr. Reagan is the oldest person to ever become President. The new First Lady, Nancy Reagan, is the President's second wife. The Reagans have four children and two grandchildren. The Reagans enjoy horseback riding and relaxing at their ranch in California.

On January 20, 1981, Ronald W. Reagan became our 40th President. The day began with a special church service for the Reagans. Then they went to the White House to meet the Carters and prepare for the inauguration. After the swearing-in, they watched the parade and traveled to their new home in the White House. The day ended with a short visit to each of 8 Inaugural Balls.

Shortly after becoming President, Mr. Reagan began putting campaign promises to work by freezing the hiring of any more government workers. This is part of his plan to cut down on federal spending.

We as a nation have four years ahead of us with a new President. May we always as a country, church, school, and people, look to God for help, guidance, strength, and protection throughout the next four years. The Lord bless you President Reagan.

COMING HOME

On November 4, 1979, the world was taken by surprise by the seizure of the U. S. Embassy in Tehran, Iran, by a group of students. At first it was unclear as to what their purpose was, but it soon became clear that their main goal was to undermine Prime Minister Barzagan. After Barzagan resigned, the students' reasons for keeping the 66 captives also changed. They said that if the U. S. would return the Shah, who was in New York for medical treatment, and his money, they would release the 66 men and women. The United States refused.

On November 19 and 20, the Iranian students released 8 men and 5 women. That brought the number of hostages down to 53. In July of 1980, they released Richard Queen because of illness. The students announced that the rest of the hostages would be tried as spies.

The hostages' first Christmas in captivity came and America responded with an outpouring of cards, gifts, and encouragement. The Ayatollah Khomeini, Iran's religious leader, allowed the U. S. to send 4 clergymen, 2 Catholic priests and 2 Protestant ministers.

Four months after the takeover, April 4, 1980, President Carter ordered a raid on the embassy to free the hostages. 3 of the 8 helicopters failed and the raid was cancelled. As the 150 man team was leaving the desert refueling stop to return to the aircraft carriers, one of the helicopters crashed with a C-130 transport plane. Eight men lost their lives. Their bodies and the planes were abandoned in the Iranian desert. The students quickly dispersed the hostages to different parts of the country to discourage any further rescue attempts.

Negotiations resumed and once again families' hopes were raised and then dashed to pieces. Their first year in captivity came to a close. Information about the hostages slowly stopped. The second Thanksgiving and Christmas without them at home passed. Again Americans sent cards, gifts, and more encouragement to the hostages and their families. Iran sent films showing some but not all of the hostages.

As the close of President Carter's term approached, negotiations were intensified. Iran asked Algiers to act as intermediary for the two nations. All three countries worked to free the hostages so that Iran wouldn't have to deal with a new U. S. president.

On January 19, the final agreements were made. There was a possibility that President Carter's wish to make the announcement that the hostages were free might be realized. The Iranians stalled and ex-President Carter learned that the Americans had left Iranian air space while he was in flight to Plains, Georgia after the Inauguration.

The hostages were flown to Algiers and officially handed over to the United States. They were then flown to the U. S. Air Force base in Wiesbaden, West Germany. They stayed at the base for 5 days and were examined by doctors, dentists, psychologists, and other medical and military personnel.

On January 25, 1981 the ex-hostages were flown from West Germany to West Point Military Academy in New York. They were met there by close family members. Two days later they left for Washington, D. C. to be officially welcomed by President Reagan. They were met at Andrews Air Force base by more family members. Hostages and families rode in buses through the capital to the White House. The route was lined by thousands of exuberant, flag-waving Americans. After the reception and welcome at the White House, the hostages were allowed to return to their homes. Many were received by additional parades and heroes' welcomes in their hometowns.

The ex-hostages and their families have days of adjustment ahead of them, and will still need the nation's prayers and encouragement.

Welcome back fellow Americans!

Below: Three of the 52 freed hostages walk down the steps from a U. S. hospital plane as they arrive at the Rhein-Main air base.

Right: A cheering crowd awaits 52 American citizens, released from 444 days of Iranian captivity, at the Wiesbaden U.S. Air Force hospital.

"The Way We Were"*

Song of 1981

Mem'ries light the corners of my mind.
Misty water color mem'ries of the way we were.

Scattered pictures of the smiles we left behind, smiles we gave to one another
for the way we were.

Can it be that it was all so simple then,
or has time rewritten ev'ry line?
If we had the chance to do it all again, tell me would we? Could we? -

Mem'ries may be beautiful, and yet, what's too painful to remember
we simply choose to forget.

So it's the laughter we will remember,
whenever we remember - the way we were,
The way we were.

Your future and Andrews University

Movement. It characterizes today's world. In every profession, in every location, in every phase of life, there's movement. Rapid movement that demands alertness, vitality, freshness and new approaches.

Andrews University has a tradition of helping young people prepare for that movement — for the kind of progress that is necessary to accomplish important goals on this earth . . . the kind of progress necessary to see the work of our church completed.

In an environment centered on Christian principles, we can help you get ready to serve in today's and tomorrow's worlds. You'll be well grounded, and will learn to make your contribution in fields like technology, the health-related professions, in business, education, theology and others. And you'll be able to keep your sights on a higher standard — always aiming for the best, the fullest and the richest opportunity in life.

If you're serious about getting ready for your role in the life of society and the church, get in touch with our Admissions Office. We can help you get started in the right direction.

- AUTOGRAPHS-81

Looking back on all we've shared,
the good and the bad,
feeling a sense of gratitude for all this year has brought,
may we always strive to keep God
the center of our lives.
This segment of time will be no more,
and in years to come we will leaf
through the pages of this book,
and find a part of us.
Who we once were and what
we've dreamed,
will be echoes of the past.
