Principal's Message

<Put Your Headline Here>

Hamburg, PA- The school year of 2000-2001 has come to a close. Each one of us gets to put in our own headline. What does your headline say? Is your headline about the fall picnic- where the seniors squeaked out a win in the last few events? Is your headline about the banquet put on by the girls' club and the guys' dorm open house? Maybe the highlight for you was the intramural program and the fun you had competing in the football field, basketball court, or softball diamond.

As you look through the headlines of this yearbook, it is my hope that you are reminded of memorable times with friends and classmates. Classes, tours, games, hayrides, laughter, and tears are all part of growing up together. It is also my prayer that these memories will include time spent with Jesus Christ. Whether those memories are singing songs around a campfire, performing the Messiah with the choir and orchestra, listening to the FOCUS speaker, talking with a friend one on one, praying with a group around the flagpole, or hiding in your "closet" to talk with God all alone, I hope that Jesus was very real to you.

We are rapidly approaching the time when headlines will be no more. There will be no more news to report, no more scores to follow, no more obituaries to read. That final headline will be written across the eastern sky--JESUS HAS RETURNED TO CLAIM HIS OWN! Let's each be ready for that day.

Mr. Spencer Hannah, Principal

Dedicated to Mr. & Mrs. Halbrook

Sometimes you find people in your life that you know you will never forget. These people quietly touch your everyday life, sometimes without your even knowing it. They offer support, encouragement, guidance, and even discipline with love, whether you think you need it or not. Two of these people are Dave and Denise Halbrook.

Mr. and Mrs. Halbrook play very important roles in each of our lives here at Blue Mountain Academy. From helping us learn how to live independently, to making sure we actually get to our classes on time; from giving up their free time to take us out to Wendy's, to just spending time with us to help us settle into academy life, Mr. and Mrs. Halbrook are always quick to be there for each student at Blue Mountain Academy.

We would like to dedicate this yearbook to Mr. and Mrs. Halbrook. Through their endless devotion and dedication, they have given their lives to Blue Mountain Academy and its students. They quietly go about their not-so-easy tasks of helping to shape us into better people.

Mr. and Mrs. Halbrook, through this yearbook dedication we would like to thank you for all that you do for us. A page in a book can never truly do justice to all the love and gratitude we have for you in our hearts; for as long as we live, we will remember you as two people who helped make our years at Blue Mountain Academy great, and helped to mold us into the people we will become.

Memories...

There is a search in life for many great things. You search for great friends too. All we have is one small lifetime. Give it all you've got. Everyone needs someone to hold on to. All we have is each other.

Great friends are there for you through thick and thin. They make you laugh when you are down. Share all your joys and all your sorrows. We're at the beginning of the end.

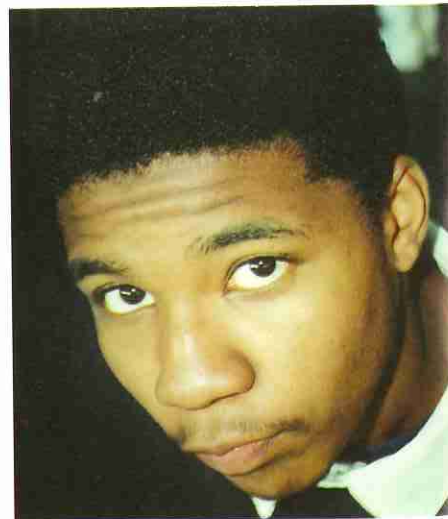

We've found our friends, we go through good times. We've seen bad times too. Keep God close, He'll keep us together. We'll last a long, long time. You smile at me and I will smile at you. Nothing can tear this bond apart.

These friends are there forever. If you need a shoulder, you can cry on them, that's a friend. And when you feel you can't go on. There's always someone there with open arms.

It's been three long years, we've stayed together, making memories fun. Taking pictures, laughing all the time. One more year, and then come the tears, what a time it will be. By Melissa Edwards.

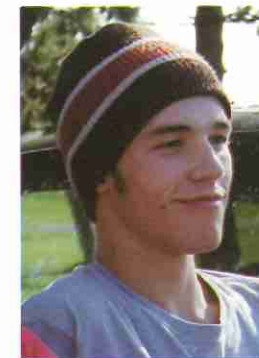

Through the years, these four-year seniors have bonded and have built strong friendships that will last a lifetime.
