Principal's Message

Time passes much too quickly...

As you look through the pages of this yearbook, whether the school year is just ending or many years later, you will realize the passing of time. Whether you consider the time from August to May, or from when you were a freshman to when you graduate-time marches on. I hope you will also appreciate the growing that you have done through this time.

Class of 2004-

Many of you came as freshmen and we've had the chance to watch you grow and mature during these past four years. They have passed quickly to you. Others have been here for a shorter time and our time together has gone even quicker. We always knew you were special. You've grown into an incredible group of young leaders for God and we are proud to send you out to change the world. May God be with you.

Class of 2005-

You now bear the responsibility of leadership at Blue Mountain Academy. Watching your class develop your identity and spirit has been very exciting and we now eagerly anticipate the results of that development. All too soon your time at BMA will be over as well. Make the most of it.

Class of 2006-

It is hard to believe that two years have passed already and you are now upper classmen. Enjoy your time here. Learn and grow. Step forward and lead.

Class of 2007-

Time will indeed pass quickly. All too soon you will be taking other classes under your wing and leading them.

Our time together this year has indeed flown by. There is nothing left of the 2003-2004 school year but the memories and the learning. I hope the memories will be cherished and learning will serve you well as you serve our awesome God. But even though our time on this earth passes quickly, we look forward to being together when there is no more time to pass and we grow together for eternity.

Dedication

Pastor and Mrs. Manente

A wise man once said, 'Leadership is influence.' I know he's right; two of the biggest leaders this school known have influenced the student body exceedingly. No two people have had faith in us, dreamed with us, and supported us like they have. I can't say that I have ever met a pair that were more convinced of the importance of being authentic. They accept each student as an original, not a copy, and value us for our differences.

Mrs. Manente: Believe people when they say you are different. You are. Not many have dreams like the ones at Moon Cafe.

You have taught us that thinking outside the box brings zest to your life. How many people have a ballad for a house pet?! Some thought you were crazy, but you are not confined by imaginary walls that others place you in. Thank you for being the one out of many to show us that being considered 'crazy' isn't at all a bad thing.

You show us what it really means to be selfless, and truly care for others. People are the most important thing in your life; you've nurtured and cared for students not your own. You've prayed for, listened to, pinned messages, taken off campus, laughed with, cried with, and feed students. You have made a significant impact on our campus. Without you this would not be the same school with the same level of humility.

Pastor Manente: You are one of the most authentic and inspirational people that we will come across throughout our lives. God is using you at BMA, this stepping stone in our lives, resulting in permanent footprints in our hearts. Keep telling us that 'the greatest enemy to being great is settling for good.' Many of us strive for good, and succeed; forgetting that good is not excellence. But you have influenced us to look and see a bigger, excellent picture; while challenging us to aim and be bright shining stars in a dark universe.

This dedication would not be appropriate if we didn't thank you for infecting us with your passion. We now have a vision of a unified church filled with second mile leaders. Knowing there's no traffic in the second mile we'll be sure to get home to heaven soon. We've seen storms come and go, but we know that storms are where we meet God and now we're not afraid. Also, knowing there will be more storms, but with confidence we'll adjust the sails, and continue on.

Changing the world one class at a time, you are one aspiring person. What place would BMA be without the leadership class? You have lifted up Jesus, and naturally we have flocked to His feet. Claiming the promise that God will finish the work He's started in us, we can assuredly, walk on water!

Because we know that leadership is permission not position, we are giving you permission to continue leading and training our youth. We know that your biggest dream is to watch young people together move mountains. Thank you for inspiring us to change the world, now watch your dreams come true.

Senior Retreat

Can You Survive Us??

Since we have been sworn to secrecy I'll just tell you that we rode the buses to some unknown area in Pennsylvania. The staff slyly grinned at us with their secret plans to come together as a class- whether we wanted to or not!! For the first time we really got to know our classmates, people we wouldn't have gotten the chance to get close to otherwise. The activities the staff had planned were fun and each had it's own way of helping us work together as a team. Not only did we bond, but we survived!

So what if our famous Bible characters didn't listen to God's plan? What if Jesus decided that we weren't worth the pain that He was to suffer on the cross, and gave up? During Friday night vespers, the class of 2004 dramatized those questions into reality in a play written by Class President, Crystal Cheatham. As Noah decided to build a kayak, David went on Goliath's side, and Job cursed God, the audience was drawn to the final scene in which Jesus gave up and called for heaven to come and rescue Him, because the reason to save humanity just wasn't enough. The lights went dim and the seniors walked out onto the stage and placed unused nails at the foot of the cross. It was a disquieting moment to think Jesus would give up on us, and hopefully made us have second thoughts about giving up on Him.

CUC College Days

On Sunday, October 5, the amazing Senior class of 2004 set out on a 3 hour bus ride to CUC for college days. Upon arriving we headed over to their quaint gym for Fall Festival. Immediately everyone started goofing around, playing giant blow-up Twister and cheering as Heather Stocum and Autumn Nagle slugged it out in the boxing ring (as well as other buff Seniors), all the while seeing how much cotten candy, soda and sugar in general we could all scarf down.

Eventually when it got sweltering inside the BMAers all drifted out to the patio, where we talked, laughed, and tried to throw each other off the ivy-laden slope; really bonding and having fun.

The next day we sat in on a couple classes, and once again headed back to BMA.

Funniest moments at BMA

"The time that I was in Sarah's room and as I was turning to go, she ran across the room to give me a hug. While doing this, she tripped over her pajama pants and fell FLAT on her face!" -Emily Carlson

Emily & Tara

"When Kandice, Erhard, and I were making a smoothie in Home Ec. class, we accidentally broke the end of a wooden spoon off in the blender. Not wanting Ms. Parker to give us a bad grade on the assignment, we just ground the chunk of the wooden spoon into it thinking that we would just dump it out after she saw that we had completed the project. We didn't expect she would want to try it. So, smiling, we poured out a full glass of it for her. She drank the whole glass, full of splinters, and remarked that it was 'very good.' But then to our horror, she asked us if we had enjoyed our smoothie, so we had to drink it up too!" -Jeremy Wagner

Guys' club meetings are where we sit around Dean Ringers' table and point and laugh at each other while others glance at us like we're stupid.

And here they are: the three men who run it all.

Ah, Ben looks like he's ready to go night-night!

We know you're doing homework, right Jeremy?

Don't look so bored, Tommy. Or is this the, I-got-it-all-under-control look when you really have a lot to do? Guess we'll never know.

Must be a pretty girl he's talking to with that grin!

Hi Jose, you're on candid camera! Ok, you're not...

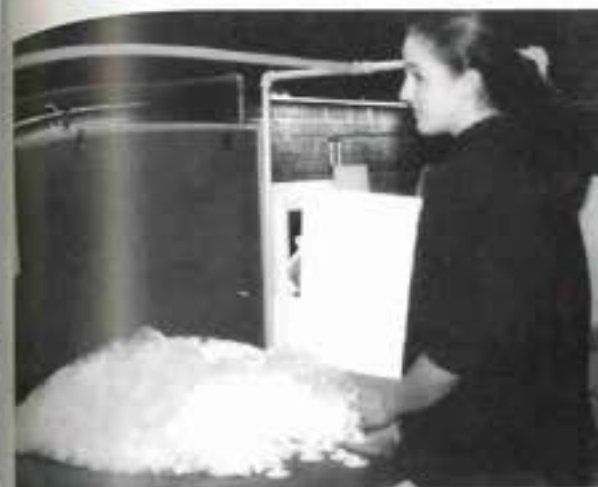

Ryan, I'm taking your picture, not putting you under hypnosis.

No, Roger! Not your finger! Eat the soup that's on your desk instead!

What what! Chris just earned his team 2 points with this lay-up.

Jeremy gets ready as the volley ball gets near.

Yea way to go Edson, get that rebound!

Don't be fooled by his height, Danny is quite the athlete. Here, he shows of his b-ball skill.

Sarah sits and relaxes during her free time.

Rec sure tired out this new freshmen. It's ok, Steven, take a breather...

Sierra is obviously thrilled to be at Rec tonight, look...she's about to clap!

Heather enjoys socializing at the cafe.

Shelly meet food. Food meet Shelly.

Obey your thirst with Icy Lemonade

Dean Callie sports our new DDC.

Michelle says a mouthfull...literally!

Lindsey lovingly shovels food into Crystal's mouth.

Marjolyne sits on Ascension Rock, remembering the events of the Great Disappointment.

Dan actually met Benjamin Franklin on this trip!

Shannon sits back and enjoys her moments in New England.

Every year Mr. Stewart takes a group of six juniors on History Honors Tour. This year, they were privileged to explore the historical sites up in New England and New York. This trip was a great way to reward the six who had exerted extreme amounts of effort in order to be among the top in their class the previous year.

Honors Tour

Every year Elder Ferguson packs up his History students for a fieldtrip to Gettysburg. While there, students visit many different gravestones, battle fields, statues, and monuments built to remember Gettysburg. For most of the class of 2005, this is more than a learning experience, it's a day off from school.

Gettysburg

"I really did have fun hanging out with my class as well as learning all that stuff about Gettysburg. I guess one thing I will always remember is how cold it was...because it was really cold...and in the middle of nowhere."

The Newbies

And the Oldies...

The gym doors opened bright and early on August 12th as parents and students poured in to take their places in line. The new students learned the ropes getting signatures, while returning students felt like old pros. There was quite a bit of confusion with the new defined dress code, but in the end everything worked out. Registration Day 2003 was a day of reuniting with friends, moving into new rooms, meeting staff, and, did I mention the lines? It was a very long day and after moving into the dorm, the reality of school starting the next day began to set in. Hey, at least there's only 180 days to go!

-Beth-Anne Vanderlaan

All smiles, they reminisce about good ol' summer stories.

It's been way too long for these three, Jerome, Kyla and Ian.

Kate and Autumn instantly become new buds.

Terrell eagerly greets Elena, a newbie to the class of '05.

We see these residents of the boys' dorm are happy to be one big happy family again.

Did Penny miss Kasey? Yes, I think maybe.

Not wasting any time, they get right to the good stuff: girl talk!

Later on that day, the classes filed out of the gym to the football field to begin the traditional BMA handshake. For the freshmen, all the hands and names become one huge mass of blurred faces, but that's okay—they have the next three years to get the hang of it. Old friendships are instantly renewed and sealed with tight hugs, and new friendships are launching! The hugging and reuniting continues until our hands are about to fall off, and after checking out all the new recruits, we think we know everyone pretty well. Time will tell, won't it?

-Beth-Anne Vanderlaan

Corn Crackin' SA Mixer Circus

No one really thought that SA could get cornier this year than it was last year. But lo and behold, they surprised us and surpassed our corny expectations. Of all things to choose, corn was the focus of every game. I believe husk to husk was a favorite among the corn stalks, because it went against a social rule or two. Luckily the staff members were part of our frolicking and play so that no one thought twice about whose husk was where.
-Crystal Cheatham

Truly involved, Ms. Parker shows her support by wearing her circus...

Yeah, guys, I am having fun. But I asked you...

No, Anthony, I don't want a hug, but thanks for the offer.

Getting to know each other, Kristi and Ale pause in between the corny games. Think about that one...

All tied up, Todd is apparently a little worried. Don't worry Todd, I have faith in Jefferson and Tyler.

Kyla is clearly enjoying this very friendly game of ...

Full of Spirit, Charlie rented stilts for the evening and was the Circus' mascot.

And here they are, the undefeated. What a team!

FALL PICNIC

Becky Krajewsky wasted no time inhaling her hot dog.

Brad represented the class of '04 as he worked on his limbo technique.

Alicia McFarlane takes a deep breath after searching for gum in a bowl.

Ashley Seymour takes in the sunshine while cheering on her class of '05.

The donut eating contest was a hit, at least Sarah Calvo seemed to think so.

Juniors showed a lot of class spirit.

Erin Hannah and Jon Almedina posed for a quick picture on the hillside.

Ricardo Flores amazed everyone with his "eating talent".

9.5....good form! Way to go, Freshmen!

Saturday night at the pool with Dennis Norse...a guaranteed good time.

Class games at the pool Saturday night were a blast-the sophomores and juniors cheer on their classmates.

For the first time the annual S.A. Fall Picnic started at Kutztown University pool. Saturday night consisted of a whole bunch of competitions with a funky water twist to them. Classes pulled together as teams to win events such as the Big Splash, Floatie Relay, and T-intertube relay. The games continued on Sunday with new events such as "egg-straw" dinary feat, water relay, and the hot dog eating contest. The freshmen rallied to win tug-of-war against the sophomores, but in the end the sophomore class still placed third. At the end of the picnic, the seniors placed first, with juniors finishing closely on their heels.

After a long trek to Laurel Lake Camp, we arrived ready for a fun-filled weekend of puzzle making for the 'old people' (thanks, Pastor Goetz for the insight), a rousing game of Bam-Ball, and the wretched noise of at least 50 guitars, plus whatever Randy could find to bang on. We learned many things, such as cardboard boxes are best used when sliding down gargantuan hills in the rain; our friends are actually little 'lemoniacs', and, most importantly, It's all about people!

On December 13, the blow up toys filled the gymnasium. There was sumo wrestling, and also the obstacle course with the giant iron man who tried to be intimidating. The Olympic challenge stood unchallenged, and bungee run had everybody on the run to go and see it. On Sunday, the students dressed up as superheroes, or in a type of uniform. They ranged from Super Scubas to Roman soldiers; from Supermodels to Biohazard Man. Coach Adams was the slimmest Santa we've ever seen!!! Those who didn't have costumes were dismissed back to the dorm, and those who stayed sang the "Twelve Days of BMA's Christmas". Each table picked a character and then were involved in displaying their creativity devising a skit. We then returned to the "real world"... A one without Secret Service Men, Super Librarians, Warriors, and Denmark king!

Singing Choir of Angels.....

Bel Canto

La Sonnette

As always the church was packed with parents, family, friends, and of course the good old BMA students. Bel Canto lived up to their name, "beautiful singing," as they lifted their voices to praise God. La Sonnette left bells ringing in our ears... literally! Mr. Flores then took his place in front of the orchestra and signalled the Sylvan Singers to rise to their feet. Angels were among the choir as they sang about the Son of God coming to Earth to die for us.

Soloists

Crystal Cheatham, Ali Schwirzer, and Jeremy Cox had us all marveling at the talent God had graced them with and by His ability to guide their voices even through all the sickness the whole choir had been feeling. The whole night was filled with praises to our God and King. Many were surely blessed because of this beautiful night.

Lindsay, I knew from the moment you were born that you were very special and would go forth in life and be successful. I am proud of all you have accomplished and proud that you are my daughter. Always keep Christ 1st in your life and may He continue to bless you. We love you very much.
Mom, Marty and Dennis

John 8:32

Dearest Lindsey;

Where has the time gone...
It seems like only last Monday,
I was holding you in my arms.
It must have been last Tuesday that you were heading off to kindergarten.
It must have been last Wednesday that you were still hunting for Easter eggs.
It must have been last Thursday that you and your friends were sill dressing up for Halloween.
It must have been last Friday that you fit in a wheelbarrow,
It must have been last Saturday that you were still struggling to find out who you were.
It must have been last Sunday that you were still my little girl.

Lindsey,
My wish for you is that no matter what life brings your way; you can always believe that God has a plan for your life...A plan only you can discover, a dream only you can live, A gift only you were meant to share to make a beautiful difference in the world.

The way you already have in mine... I love you and am so proud of you as my daughter.

Dad

Dear Renee'

It seems like yesterday that you were just a baby in our arms...now suddenly you're a grown woman. As I think back, I realize that it took more than 17 years to make you the woman you are today. I think of Grandma's life, and my own life and how God led. I don't have a doubt that "He know you before you were in your mothers womb" (Jer. 1:5) God must have a special plan for you to do, and you will certainly rise to the occasion.

You have brought us untold joy over the past 17 years. Our buttons have almost burst with pride as we watched you grow up, and listened to the many compliments that came our way for having such a wonderful daughter.

You impressed us as you impress one of your teachers who said, Renee' is a delightful mix, a very well balanced young lady-a very beautiful Christian, yet fun-loving.

Our prayers and blessings go with you as you enter this next phase of your life. You can be sure we will be there for you no matter what. Thank you for all the joy you have brought to us.

With All Our Love,
Mom and Dad

When we look at you Tyler, we see so much more than you probably see yourself. We see an independent spirit, always on the move, meeting new people, and doing new things. Your church family will never forget the first time they met you...a little 3 year old boy running down the middle aisle at church, your pants at you ankles, wearing sunglasses and a big smile, yelling, "I gotta go polly". We remember, a little boy, with a giant heart who just wanted to please everyone and wanted everyone to be his friend. Today, a young man, you still have that giant heart.

We see someone who's not afraid of life's up and downs, only of making a difference. When you were little, we called you "odie". No matter how often Garfield would rough him up, Odie would be sitting there, tail wagging, waiting for another adventure. You were like that, never letting anything bother you, just happy to be a part of the adventure, wanting to make a difference.

We see someone who can take a tense moment and diffuss it with laughter, helping us realize that we are taking ourselves too seriously. Yet, this same someone is a Peacemaker too--caring and understanding, knowing when to listen & when to help. We look at you Tyler and see someone who has made a difference in the lives of everyone who knows you...simply by being yourself. And we thank God for the sunshine you have brought and for the difference you have made in ours. --Mom and Dad

Lindsey,

It seems like only yesterday that you were making mud pies in the yard and building toll booths in the upstairs hallway. Now you are graduating from academy. It has been our joy and privilege to watch you mature into a beautiful young Christian woman. God has blessed you with so many talents and we enjoy watching you use them to serve Him. May that always be your goal. We love you so much and are so proud of you. Mom and Dad

Congratulations, Bex!

Keep your eye on the important things. Your enthusiasm and positive spirit will take you far. I am so proud of you.

Love, Dad

My Beautiful Little Girl,

On life's journey keep a song on your lips and a dream in your heart. You will forever be my angel and remember you can always come home. I love you and am so proud.

Luv, Mummy

*Dear Gene,
It is hard to believe it is time for your graduation. It seems like just yesterday you were placed in our arms and brought more joy and happiness to our lives than we thought would ever be possible. Nothing you ever accomplish, or any failure you may have, will ever diminish the love in our hearts for you. May the Lord bless you abundantly in your service for Him.*

*Love,
Dad and Mom*

*Hi Elvin,
Congratulations to you on this your graduation day. We are proud to be your parents and siblings. Take God with you always as you pursue higher education. We love you,
Dad, Mom,
Michael, & Jerome*

Alison Brook Schwirzer

*We remember the moment you came into this world
We can still see the faces 'round our new little girl
There were friends and the family,
there was love all around*

*Yes, you came to a circle and 'twas love that you found
And the circle grows wider,
and you're farther away
But the Center can hold you,
and with this in mind, we bless this day*

We love you, Beeb!

Mom, Dad, and Kimmy

If your daddy could see you now he would be so proud of you. I feel honored to be called "mom" by you. You are an inspiration to me. It has been exciting to watch you live the pages of your life. I know that what we see and know now is just the beginning of what is to come. Listen to your heart. Find out who you are. Take the time to quiet the chatter, for in the silence of "not doing", you will begin to know what you feel. If you listen and hear what is being offered, then anything in life can be your guide. LISTEN. Love you, Mom

Mary Christian

Your family loves you and is very proud of you. We honor you by sharing with your friends and with posterity a selection of your poetry. (And congratulations on being a National Merit Finalist!)

The Ballad of the Sewing Class

I wanted to study a lesson in sewing to master the use of the sewing machine,
But I didn't know the contraption was going to prove itself nasty and horrid and mean.
My first bit of trouble was threading a bobbin and pulling the thread through a hole in the plate.
I had an exceedingly difficult job in locating the strand and in pulling it straight.
I stepped on the pedal and pulled up the lever
I thought would allow me to stitch in reverse,
But sadly I wasn't sufficiently clever to handle a problem that made matters worse:
How could I hold onto the fabric to steer it and still not allow the black lever to fall?
The pedal stopped working and made it quite clear it did not plan to make any stitches at all.
Another machine I plugged into the wall, and I thought for a moment my troubles were done.
But just then the bell made a sound in the hall, and the class time was over and I had to run.
The world would be better without any sewing,
and that is why people should stick to crochet.
I'm tired of writing, so now I am going,
and that's all the poem you get for today.

Ode to my Sneakers (Owed to the Dress Code)

My running shoes were comfortable and good;
I wore them when I walked upon the ground.
They functioned just the way two sneakers should,
Although the left one made a squeaky sound.
But they and I were cruelly separated,
For sneakers by the dress code were forbidden.
Thus I to wear my Oxford Browns was fated,
And in the closet were my sneakers hidden.
But now I've heard some most delightful news:
At last the Ad Committee has a heart!
I'm now allowed to wear my running shoes
To school till they begin to fall apart.
Each day I wear my old white friends of leather,
And so we three shall always be together.

Frigateless France (While studying French at Collonges, I fondly recall our mission trip to the Galapagos Islands)

I now have been a week or more ici,
And so far I have much enjoyed my stay.
I've found that a baguette besmeared with brie
Is not too bad for petit déjeuner.
And yet I'll voice one grievance if I may:
I'll tell you of my terrible mischance.
Last night I learned with passionate dismay
They don't have any frigates here in France!
I miss the frigates and their frigate dance,
Their throats, like bright balloons, as red as rubies.
I miss the imitations done by Lance.
I miss iguanas, tortoises, and boobies.
Oh, take me to San Cristobal to stay,
Where crazy critters aren't so far away.

Jello Problem

(Don't let Baby Snooks hear about this)
There lived a girl who dearly loved a boy,
Though he was not a very pleasant fellow.
She thought that it would fill his heart with joy
To feed him heaps of sparkling homemade jello.
But whether it was red or green or yellow,
She never quite could make it good enough.
"This stuff is thin and runny!" he would bellow.
Or else he'd find it rubbery and tough.
So often did he criticize "this stuff"
That of her heart he was no longer king.
"He's rude," she said, "His brain is made of fluff.
He's cute of course, but looks aren't everything."
The girl soon found a more deserving man
Who gladly ate her jello by the pan.

Bad Hair Day

One day we went on tour with La Scenette
To Needmore, Richland, and one other town.
But on the way we got a little wet,
Because a shower of rain came pelting down.
I knew the water wouldn't make us drown,
So I found little reason to complain.
But poor Vanina noticed with a frown
Her hair was being ruined by the rain.
She dashed for shelter hoping she would gain
Protection for her fluffy tresses there.
Alas! Her efforts all were quite in vain—
The falling rain completely soaked her hair!
So next time we go on a tour, I'll tell her
That she'd be wise to carry an umbrella.

Ici pour T'aimer

(A translation of "Here I am to Worship," by Tim Hughes.
Retaining the beauty of a translated poem generally requires significant changes to the words and meaning. Translation of both form and content at once is an elusive goal.)
Ma Lumière, à la terre Tu es venu
À fin que je puisse voir
La beauté qui me fait T'adorer,
L'espoir de vivre avec Toi.

[Refrain] Je suis ici pour T'aimer.
Ici pour m'incliner,
Ici pour Te dire que Tu es Dieu,
Car Tu es magnifique,
Toi, le Fils Unique,
Tu es absolument merveilleux.

Tu étais Roi des cieux et du monde,
Seigneur puissant, exalté;
Pourtant, à cause de Ta pitié profonde,
Tu vivais en pauvreté.

[Refrain] Je suis ici pour T'aimer,
Ici pour m'incliner,
Ici pour Te dire que Tu es Dieu,
Car Tu es magnifique,
Toi, le Fils Unique,
Tu es absolument merveilleux.

Et je suis étonné quand je vois
Mon péché cloué sur la croix.

Dear Jennefer,
It only seems like yesterday that you started your journey in school. Now you are graduating and we couldn't be more proud of you and all that you have accomplished. Your mom and I have been so blessed by the many unique characteristics that make you the beautiful young woman that you are. Your warm spirit, your compassion for others, your inner beauty, your intelligence, and your humor are just a few of the things that make you so very special.
Thank you for not being afraid of the special 'you' that you have become and for all the laughter and joy you have brought into our lives!
Always walk closely with your best friend Jesus. He will walk with and will lead you as you leave BMA to embark on the next stage of your life.
We will continue to hold you in our hearts and pray for you daily that the Lord will continue to lead and guide you in His work.
Just remember the most important thing that you will do as you leave BMA is to share God's love with those around you. Be His ambassador here on earth so that when He comes to take us home He will find you faithful.
Again, we are proud not only of your graduation, but of the beautiful young woman that you are.
With all our love,
Daddy and Muhmootea PS One more thing, when did you grow up to be such a big girl?

Precious Beth-Anne Nicole,

I could write a book about you and still not be able to fully convey what you mean to me or how much I love you. You are a jewel and I have treasured and thanked God for every single day of your life! I know that since you have given your heart to God that you will have your dreams fulfilled beyond anything you can imagine now. "Those who are wise will shine like the brightness of the heavens, and those who lead many to righteousness, like the stars forever and ever." Daniel 12:3. I believe God helped me name you, because the meaning of your name so beautifully says who you are: "dwelling place of God-full of Grace". God's love shines through you. You have many special talents and gifts that only YOU can bring to the world. I am so blessed to have been your mother and also have you as my friend. I love you with all of my heart!
Love, Mama

*Bravo Bethy!
I am so very proud of you!
Thank you for letting me be one of your parents. In a sense I feel I've grown watching you. I respect your energy and effort. I appreciate your desire to have the Lord be first in your life. I know you're very conscientious and I've seen you trying hard to make right choices. Take courage. Life is complicated and sometimes the BEST path is not always initially clear. Please never tire of striving for the best. "Do not follow where the path may lead. Go instead where there is no path and leave a trail." (Emerson). Bethy, I hope you will always remember that I love you and will help you in any way I can.*
Love, Dave

Our Beautiful Shaunielle,

We cannot believe how quickly this time has come. It's time for you to fly... Time for our beautiful butterfly to spread her wings and fly. Our hearts are rejoicing and at the same time bursting with tears.
Rejoicing to see you fluttering your wings triumphantly. Our splendid butterfly soaring high to discover her own world. Our hearts are swell with pride and joy to see your deep desires to seek and serve our Lord, strong in your convictions and values. You have an exceptional gift that inspires people to be the best they can be. Our lives are so full and complete having you. Thank you for making our lives so stupendous.

No words can express the bursting tears we feel inside for letting you go is not easy. We will greatly miss having you home everyday. We will miss your daily hugs, kisses, smiles, laughter, chats, meal times, worship times, tucking you in at bedtimes to say our last word for the day " I love you", and mostly your warm voice calling for MOMMY and DADDY. We will miss you every moment of the day, but we will be comforted knowing that our Lord is right beside you where ever you are.

Our Precious Shaunielle, continue to put God first and seek His guidance in ALL that you do.
Mommy and Daddy will forever cradle you in our hearts and we love you very very much unconditionally. We love you more!

With ALL our love,
Mommy and Daddy AAA

What is a son?

A son is a precious gift, handed to parents as a carefully packaged parcel. To watch him unfold is an awesome experience.

It takes years sometimes for potentials to be realized.

It takes special nurturing and wisdom. When unwrapping occurs, understanding, patience are especially required.

When God is at the center its all the more exciting.

Son, as we've watched you grow and unravel to the son-shine of His love.

We feel blessed and honored to have you in our family. You are indeed a gift. We thank God. We love you, we are proud of you. Congratulations on your graduation - Hold on to Jesus' unchanging Love.

To our Precious daughter, Autumn:

We are so proud of you!
From the time you were a newborn
you've made our lives brand new.
Where did the time go, sweetie pie?
How fast our baby grew!
You accomplished so much as a child, it's true.
From dance, Scouts,
and chorus just to name a few.
To gymnastics and cheerleading
and honor roll too!
You have a baby sister now
who sure looks up to you!
Sometimes the road was rocky and hard to pursue,
but it didn't harden your heart,
your love came shining through.
The many, many friends you've made will never forget you.
Now that you are an adult
it's time to start anew.
You're graduating from BMA,
another dream come true!
Your shining personality and kind and thoughtful view will warm our hearts forever,
no matter what you do.
So try to remember all of this
if you should get the blues.
And don't forget that Dad and Mom and God
are here for you.
And we all love you!

Sunrise of Your Smile

Reject the worldly lie that says
That life lies always up ahead.
Let power go before control
Becomes a crust around your soul.
Escape the hunger to possess
And soul diminishing success.
This world is full of narrow lives
I pray by grace your smile survives.
For I would wander weary miles
Would welcome ridicule my child
To simply see the sunrise of your smile.
To see the light behind your eyes.
The happy thought that makes you fly.
Yes, I would wander weary miles
To simply see the sunrise of your smile.

-Michael Card

Dear Robert,

This is not the end of learning, but only the beginning. Remember that keeping your smile comes from fulfilling God's purpose for your life each day. Find that purpose and learn with a passion. Congratulations!

*With so much love,
Mom, Dad, and Krystal*

We are proud of you

Remember mom and dad
Are always here for you

You dream of success
Will only come true by working hard

Commune with God daily
You will never be sorry

You hold the key to your Potentials. Use your time wisely

Take time to enjoy nature

It seems it was only yesterday when we cuddled you in our arms. God sent You to us, and we treasured His gift. Today, we see you transformed into a beautiful young lady, walking with eager, and yet with apprehensive steps toward the journey ahead. Look up, dear girl, and hold His waiting marked hand. Let Him take you through life. As you walk together, He will take you in His errands of mercy to those He came to save. In the process, He will teach you how to love as He loves. You will learn to have faith, and to trust Him. You will enter into His rest and will experience the true meaning of joy and life.

Wait in the Lord, He shall renew your strength; you shall mount up with wings as eagles; you shall run, and not be weary; and you shall walk, and not faint. Isa. 40:31

Remember Juliette that you need to be sober, and be vigilant for your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking to devour you. 1Pet 5:8

Therefore, cast all your care upon Him; for He careth for you. 1 Pet. 5:7

Kyle:

It's hard to believe this day is really here. The years have flown by, and suddenly you're graduating. It seems like just a little while ago you raised your tiny head and smiled back at us for the first time. Though you are older now and will be soon pursuing your own goals and living your dreams, we can still look at your beautiful smile and know that things are all right with you. You have become an incredible young man. You have many unique and special talents and they will give you many paths to choose from in the future. Always keep a positive outlook on life, it will give you strength to accomplish great things. Always keep determination, it will give you the ability to succeed in meeting your goals. Always keep your sense of humor, it will allow you to make mistakes and learn from them. You have the ability to become anything you want. Set goals for yourself and don't be afraid to work to reach them. Always put God first. Walk with him daily, and pray with him nightly. As you continue to grow in your own unique, wonderful way, always remember that we are very proud of you and that we love you more than you know. You are a blessing that we are forever thankful for. Love Mom and Dad

Kyle: No matter where the future takes us there is one thing that will stay the same, you will always be my brother and I will always be grateful to God for giving that to me. Much luck and happiness in the future. Remember to have faith and trust in God. Love Kayce

Kyle: I am proud of you and I know that you will accomplish many great things with God by your side. Remember I am always here for you. Love Karey

Our Dear Chris,
 Where did the time go? Seems you were just our little ChrisChris, and now here you are a fine young man ready to leave the nest to see what God has planned for you. This is an exciting time for you as you take the next step in your maturity. Always take time to pray and worship the Lord. Always take time to listen to that small voice of the Holy Spirit. Remember, through Christ you can do all things. We love you so much, and we pray for you daily.
 God bless you Son,
 Mom & Dad

David,
 We have watched you grow from that sweet baby boy to a handsome young man. It has been an enjoyable and memorable journey! We are so proud of the honest, loving person you've become. As you prepare to go on with the next chapter of your life, allow God to lead you in all your decisions. He will never lead you astray.

We love you, David!

Dear Bro,
Well, our good ol' days are almost over. I have lots of fond memories of us growing up together, such as singing and playing our violins, piano, and guitars on Friday nights, all the adventures we've had over the years (like chasing those poor bunny rabbits all over creation), all the jokes we've shared, laughing over all the dumb things you and I did and said (due to the lack of much needed common sense!), chasing each other around the house and then outside on our bikes (I really did enjoy all those "outings" even if I did complain a lot!), and you trying to keep up with me on the violin (... yea, you heard what I said! You know it's true! Ha, ha! But, you're still better at piano and guitar... Oh yea, thanks for teaching me how to play guitar. Now Dad says we have to give the guitar a good burial since we beat it to death). Well, I guess our lives will be different now that you'll be in college and me in high school. I'll

Congratualations

We are so very proud of you, your accomplishments, and of gentle, caring person that you have become.

You are an exceptional young man. God has blessed you with many gifts.

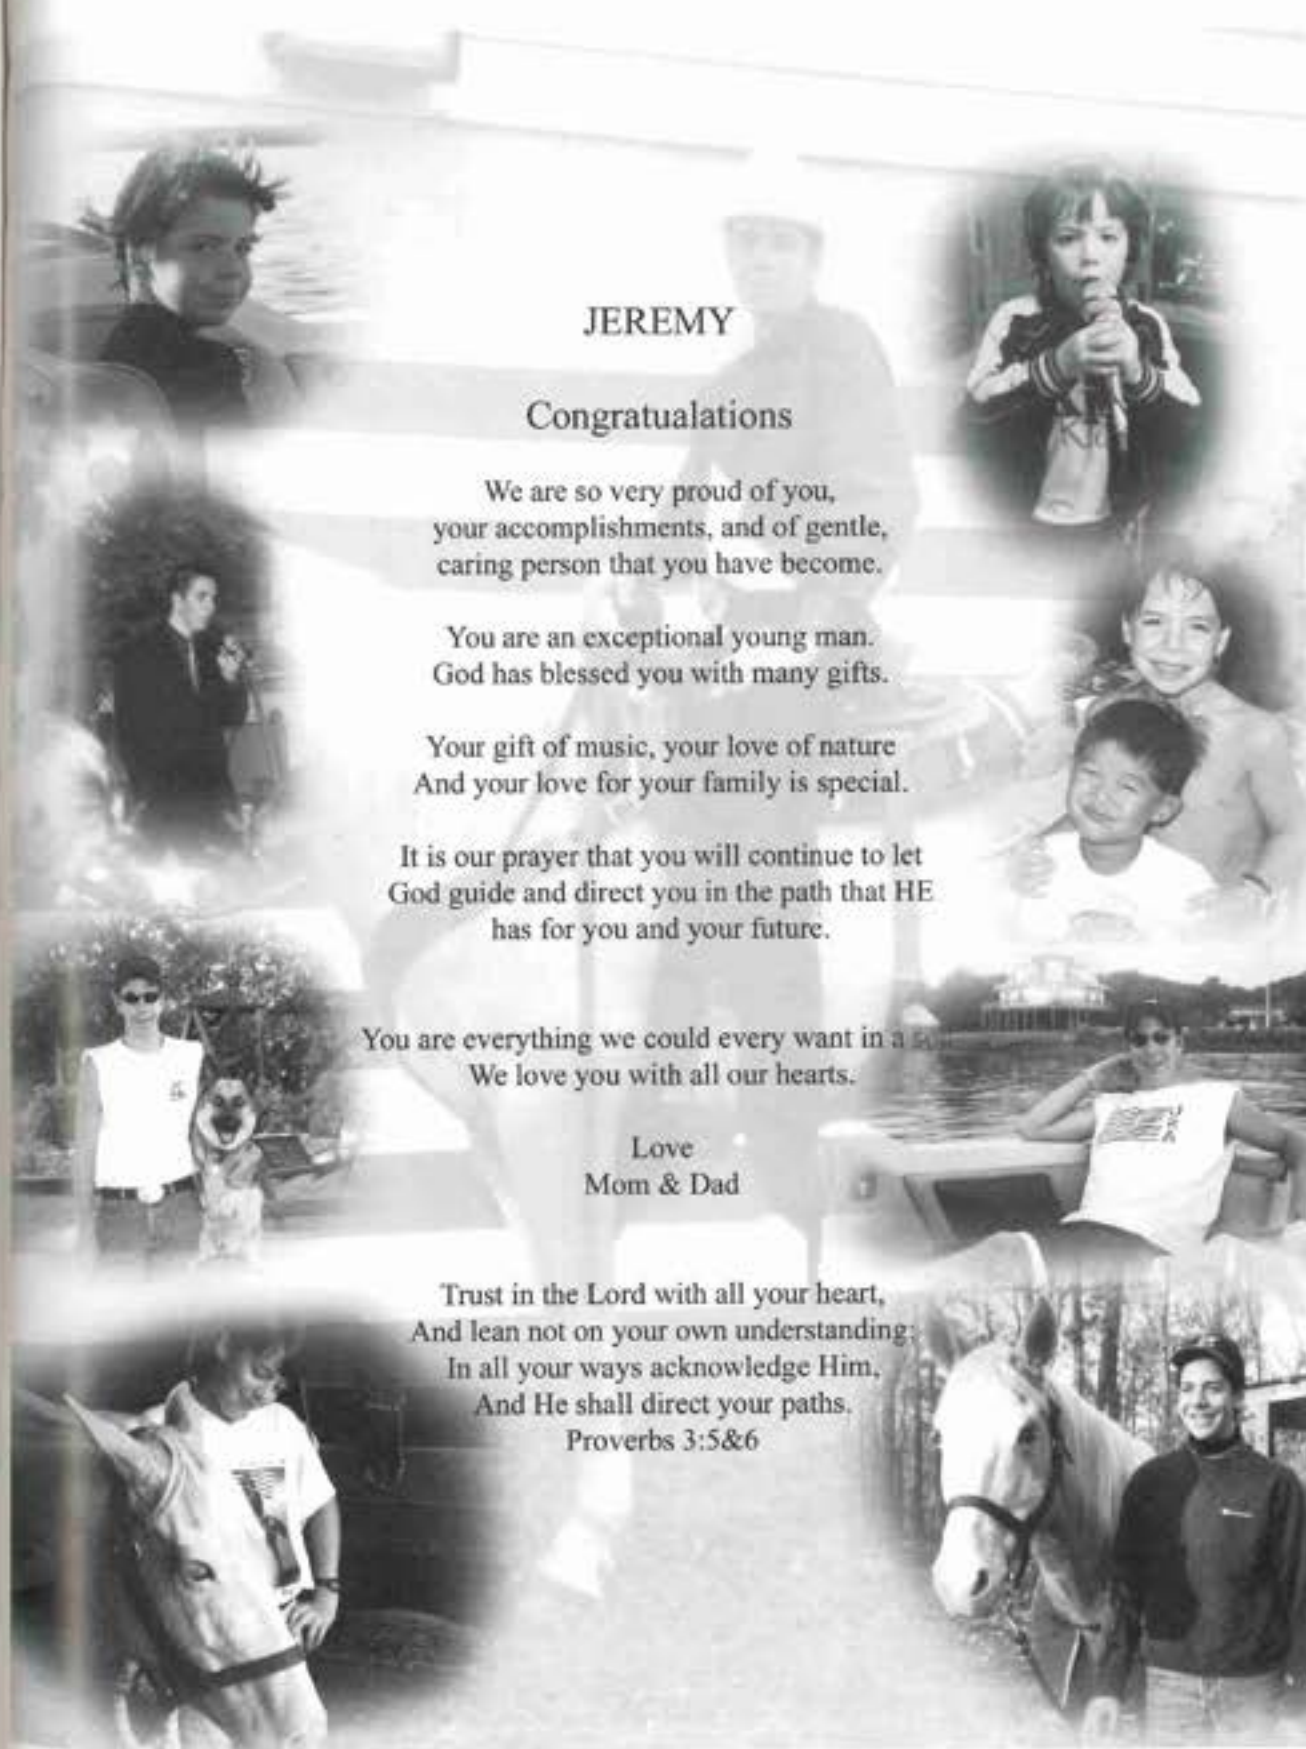

Your gift of music, your love of nature And your love for your family is special.

It is our prayer that you will continue to let God guide and direct you in the path that HE has for you and your future.

You are everything we could every want in a son. We love you with all our hearts.

Somewhere Down the Road
 So much pain and no good reason why. You've cried until the tears run dry. And nothing here can make you understand. The one thing that you held so dear is slipping from your hands. And you say...
 Why, why, why does it go this way?
 Why, why, why and all I can say,
 Somewhere down the road there'll be answers to the questions.
 Somewhere down the road though we cannot see it now,
 Somewhere down the road you will find mighty arms reaching for you,
 And they will hold the answers at the end of the road.
 Yesterday I thought I'd seen it all. I thought I'd climbed the highest wall.
 Now I see the learning never ends. And all I know to do is keep on walking, Walking 'round the bend, saying...
 Why, why, why does it go this way? Why, why, why and all I can say,
 Somewhere down the road there'll be answers to the questions.
 Somewhere down the road though we cannot see it now. Somewhere down the road you will find mighty arms reaching for you. And they will hold the answers at the end of the road.

I remember when you used to wow our whole class with your computer game skills. I remember you talking nonstop about legos in second grade, and about roller blades in seventh. If you were here now, I wonder, would you still be practicing your skating moves on the edge of your desk? See you soon.

I will never forget Josh's cheerful spirit.
 -Gene Stewart

Josh was a great friend who always wanted to have a good time. We used to hang out a lot and do some pretty crazy things. He taught me how to aggressive skate and we would go to skate parks whenever we could. I'll never forget Josh and his cheerful attitude.
 -David Eyer

I will always remember you and the way you had to make sure everyone was laughing. You could always lighten the mood of everyone around you. You had a wonderful gift and I will forever miss you and your smile. Thanks for all the laughs.
 -Erin Hannah

To an awesome friend that I miss greatly. So many memories made that I'll never forget. From playing 'Digger' to all the Ace Ventura impressions and your obsession with skating. To someone who was always there when I needed a good laugh or someone to confide in. You're in my heart forever. Hope to see you soon! I love you.

Dear Joe, my loving son,
 Congratulations on your graduation day. Wow, I feel so proud and honored to experience this memorable occasion with you. Words can't describe my joy, my happiness and my love for you right now. I am so proud to have a son like you. I thank God for his guidance in what you have accomplished so far, and I will continue to pray that He continues to guide you in all that is to come. Remember in all that you do, always put the Lord first throughout your life and he will in turn pave the way for many blessings to come your way.
 I love you. Your mom, Yovanny

LET'S CONNECT

Answer the vigor and excitement of starting college lurks that bothersome little question, just waiting to stress you out—how are you going to pay your way? Locating the funds you need is one of the most important points of connection for your studies at any university, and sometimes Mom and Dad, your savings from summer jobs, and student loans just don't cut it. The good news is that we understand the importance of this connection, and our new Andrews Partnership Scholarship (APS) is designed to do just as its name suggests—become partners with you as you seek to cover the costs of your education. Using the million dollars we've invested in our undergraduates and entering freshmen, there is now an APS for every student, ranging between $1000 and 14000 per year for the duration of an undergraduate degree (or 9 semesters, whichever comes first). This is a program that makes a difference for our students, and for you. At Andrews, we're ready to connect, even when it comes to helping you pay for your university education!

One day we will understand why we were sent to Blue Mountain Academy. Some of you, like me, may think you already know the reason. Some wish they knew just to make sense of their life. Some refuse to believe that it was God, but yet just our vindictive parents punishing us with boarding school. Maybe you have never even contemplated the question.

Now, at the end of the year, it is a good time to think about it. Whether you just finished your freshman year or if you are about to walk down the aisle and grab that rolled up scroll, one thing is certain: God brought you to this school for a reason. We don't know why, or how we are different because of it, but it's as simple as that. We may not know now who we might have helped along the way, or really which teacher it was that truly may have introduced us to Jesus. But somewhere between our classes, our jobs, and our crazy teenage years, we have had the privilege of being in a place everyday swarming with people concerned with our spiritual welfare.

Though that may sound nothing but overwhelming to you, I know that as a senior, it's scary. I'm almost gone for good, let loose into the "real world" to fight my own battles. Yeah, sure, I probably won't get on a rec list for being tardy, but I also won't have my deans paging me to get up. I won't have slop, great FOCUS weeks, an awesome job, easy courses or a gym the size of BMA's. I'll be lucky if I get to know any of my teachers on a personal level, and there won't be any more late night laughs with my adopted roommate. There won't be any cheesy SA events that almost always ended up being really fun, no more team tankini, no senior privileges...wait, what are those?

If I could live any years over, it would be my freshman and sophomore years. I want the days back where I wasn't too concerned with boys, hair, clothes, or all the decisions I have to make, but just about having fun with my girlfriends and finishing my school work on time. Mostly I want to go back and just have fun.

I grew up too fast. Live it up, guys. Freshmen and sophomores, take my advice: Just have fun, do your work, and trust that Jesus will work out all you need for when you need it. But you still have time to grow up. Wait for it.

Juniors, you have one more year left. Don't take advantage of the FOCUS weeks or our awesome church services. See what you can do to be a part of that. Show underclassmen what it really means to be spirit-filled young people!

Seniors, what can I say. Senior Retreat is over...graduation, almost over. Starting over in a new world is an alarming thought. But Jesus is with us every step of the way, so what have we to worry about!

Finally, Staff: Their are very few people on this planet like you. I hope someday I can be as dedicated to God and His young people as you have been. Keep searching out kids, giving them Bible studies, taking them off campus, they will NEVER forget you. I won't. Thank you for showing me what Jesus really looks like. Take care of BMA, and never forget your mission.
